

NEW YORK BIRD LIST REPORTS 1997

Compiled by Berna Lincoln

We note, with great pleasure, that 92 people, including many new participants, submitted reports for 1997. The notes and comments included by many of you certainly enhance my satisfaction in working with this project - I know you're enjoying it - and I thank all who took the time, especially Bill Lenhart for including a lovely photo of a Gray Jay at Ferd's Bog. Those notes also supply welcome anecdotes for this narrative and help put a "face" on some of you I've never met.

The most notable event of 1997 was that two people reported remarkable year lists. Thomas Fiore wrote that 305 species of his 325 total were found in the five counties comprising New York City! Gail Benson's 312 is another truly outstanding record. (Only politicians tread on "down-staters." Birders never do.)

Another close-to-a-coast resident, Joe DiCostanzo, has surpassed the 300 life list mark in a single county (Suffolk) and he's the first to do so outside his county of residence, although long periods of working on the Great Gull Island project certainly helped.

This year, Cayuga and Seneca counties, with 25 reports each, won the popularity laurels. Do you suppose Montezuma NWR has something to do with that? Several people rose to the Montgomery County challenge that I laid down last year. Some of you found the place and Hugh Kingery, who's lived in Colorado for ages, searched some old records and/or memories and came up with the top list so far. (It's still a challenge. And, remember, he spends most of his time in Colorado and most of us are a tad closer.) Hugh's same old shoebox produced a whopping 162 in Otsego County, where he said we definitely needed a challenge. Little did he know that Doug Kibbe and Chris Vredenburg had the same idea.

The challenge for next year is Fulton County. Just look at it. Pitiful! Although it doesn't have a Montezuma or a Jamaica Bay, I know it has some really nice places that surely harbor a few birds. (Strike Bill Purcell's 1996 report of 70 from there; it was a mistake.)

By the way, it was a starling Dave Russell saw in Bronx, and he says he wasn't speeding. He says he was lost and he didn't want to be there. I told him the Bronx has some really nice birding sites. He gave me that look that says, "down-stater."

Stan and I retain our increasingly tenuous hold on the distinction of reporting from all 62 counties, but I've heard rumors that we may have welcome company next year. Dave Russell and Bill Ostrander, each now with 49, will need to look over their shoulders to see who's gaining on them! Jane Graves, for one, who sent lists from 47 counties, and the four others reporting from 40 or more: Michael Bochnik, Mickey Scilingo, Alison VanKeuren, Bill Watson. Those who significantly increased the number of counties where they've seen and noted birds were too numerous to list this year. I trust it's a measure of the fun you're getting from all this.

We're still waiting for someone to reach the threshold of 100 species in all 10 Regions. I'm stuck at nine, Jane Graves has joined Stan at eight and Bill Purcell is holding at seven.

As announced on the 1997 report form, only lists reported on it are printed here. The only "holdovers" are high counts reported in prior years that haven't yet been surpassed. You'll find them at the end of this report.

The 1998 report form will be in the January New York Birders and you'll need to send it in, even if your numbers haven't changed, to get on next year's printed report. Keep those reports coming. We love it.

An asterisk (*) means the person named resides in the county reported.
